

This web site can NOT help you locate escorts or porn sites.
This web site is strictly a business resource for professional gay escorts.

Welcome

Note that this site contains information, links and discussion frankly relating to gay male sex. If you don't like that or if such content isn't legal where you are; or if you aren't of legal age leave now!

Begun as a sub-section in a private escort web site in 2000, this site soon grew and gained its name moving into the EscortX.net domain. From there it grew again to gain the name "Eros Rising" for the Greek god of love as well as the root of 'erotic'.

Always looking for new information and topics that will be of help. If you have questions you'd like to see us providing information about, or some ideas you would like us to share through this site please email us.

This site has a lot of links to outside web sites that aren't connected with Eros Rising in any way. It's impossible for us to keep all our links current without your help. If you know of a listing we should include, or a link that is no longer valid please let us know. It's only with the help of you that those links are kept current!

Now the legal stuff: advice and suggestions given here are strictly the opinions of the site owner and operators who are not legal experts. Nothing in this site is legal advice. You are urged to check with local legal experts in your area, even if you are in the same region as this site's home base.

Finally, we thank you for your support. The questions, comments, and suggestions that keep this site current and growing are all much appreciated! After viewing our site please do take time to visit our contact page and give us your thoughts.

Here's an overview of what you'll find in the site:

Starting Out?

You can't go to a trade school to learn about being an escort. There are a lot of questions beginners have and uncertainty about what to do or how to handle various situations. Read information collected from working escorts about getting started.

Building A Web Site

Any escort who has used the web to promote himself will tell you the difference is remarkable. But there's a huge difference between having a web site and having a good web site.

Where to Advertise

Where and how does an escort advertise? Aside from on the web, what publications do you want to be listed in? There are more choices than you might imagine. Local - national - international!

Online Promotion

There are countless ways to get your name and picture out on the web that will bring traffic to your web site, emails from interested contacts, or immediate direct contact.

Other Topics

There are countless details in running your escorting business: collecting payment, concerns about your health and safety, deciding if you want to diversify into massage, being a porn actor, working online on video camera, and more.

Other Resource Sites

In addition to this site, others that can help are:

- World Sex Guide Granddaddy of all web sex resources--started in 1994! Worldwide escorting information. Straight-oriented, but still very useful.
- AIM Health Care Los Angeles care for physical and emotional needs of escorts and those working in the adult entertainment industry.
- Sex Workers Project New York based organization providing legal and social services and education for escorts.
- St. James Infirmary San Francisco healthcare and social services for escorts. Also helpful with legal advice.
- Commercial Sex Information Service Canada's premier sex support. A bit dated, but helpful.
- TimeWasterZ UK based, providing escorts with information on how to keep safe. Online forum.
- SAAFE UK based, escort-operated peer support and information sharing.
- UKNSWP UK Network of Sex Work Projects - "promote the health, safety, civil and human rights of sex workers".
